

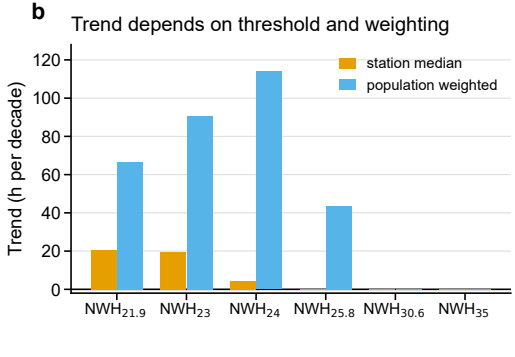
Headline window highlighted; n is the balanced station set of each window. Every window gives a positive trend.



Station medians collapse to zero once a majority of stations sits perennially below the threshold.