
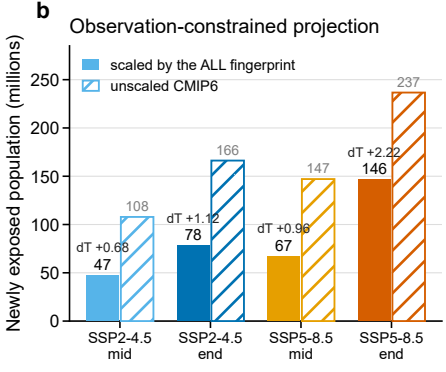
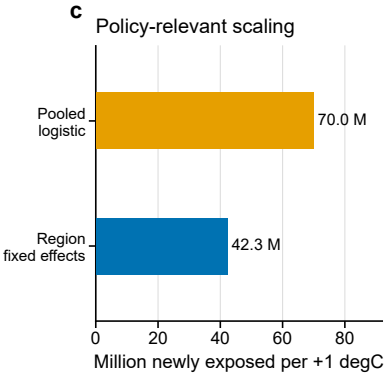
Intensity grows faster than extent, but the dose response is flat, so risk follows extent: scaling by intensity over-states 1.78x.



Calibrated model baseline exposure = 238.0 M. dT is the scaled warm-season nocturnal Tw change relative to 1995-2014.



Model calibration bias -7 M (-2.7% of the observed mean). The fixed-effects estimate is the conservative lower bound.